Boston Vermonters Sugar Off. Last Wednesday evening the members of the Vermont association of Boston and their guests enjoyed their annual "sugaring off" at the Hotel Westminster For many years at this time the Vermont association has had a "sugaringoff," but never until this time was the scene so realistic. In the first place there was a maple tree, filled with sap which gushed forth when the tap was applied. The sap was the clear, unadulterated article, as any one could see, as it poured into real sap buckets hung from sap yokes carried on the shoulders of real Vermonters, garbed as such are when they gather sap in the maple groves of the Green Mountain

Then there were the kettles, bubbling and trothing as the liquid simmered eating the maple sweet, and for this from the clouds in Vermont a few days which every one had a drink, was sent through the kindness of State Forester Vaughan of Randolph Other friends of the association sent different mementoes. One old-timer even claimed to have with him the sap paddle from North Hero that the President used when he visited Vermont when a boy.

Besides the sugar there were the doughnuts, "such as mother used to make," and other accompanying delicacies, such as pickles, dried beef, cheese, apples and eider.

Sunday School Statistics.

Rev. E. M. Fuller of Burlington. This is gain of 3 per cent in the past year.

A total enrollment of 56,924 is reported from 569 schools, out of a total of 680. Last spring a special worker was placed in the field in the person of Miss Edith M. Balch of Chelsea, Mass., who was put in charge of the home department work. Since then there has een a gain of more than 2000 members in this department alone throughout the state, a personal house to house canvass gying been made in many of the towns Miss Balch and her assistants. According to the state superintendent, anday school work in Vermont has never been so active nor so productive of esults as now. Much has been done in ffectively organizing township and ounties into districts, and in holding Rev. Mr. Fuller and party of seven anday school workers from different earts of Vermont will sail from Boston pril 27 for Rome to attend the World's day school convention there.

State Baptists Prosperous.

The reports presented at the semiinnual meeting of the Vermont Baptist State convention held in Rutland showed that the funds in the treasury amount to $195,000. This is the best showing ever made, the fund having increased greatly in the past six months. Appropriations were made to aid churches in Danby, St. Johnsbury, Whitingham, Groton and Essex Junction. The annual state convention will be held with the church in Rutfand Sept. 23-25. These officers of the Vermont Twenty-seven per cent of the Protestant population of the state of Vermont are enrolled in the Sunday schools, according to statistics just compiled for the past year by the general secretary of the Vermont Sunday School Association, the Past New Fuller of Burlington. E. A. Cook, state's attorney of Orleans county, returned from Cincinnati last week with George L. Bannister of North Troy, who was arrested by the Pinkerton detective agency of that city. Bannister is wanted in that county for alleged grand larceny and on other serious charges. A. A. Macomber of North Troy furnished $1,000 bail for his appearance at this term of court, but Monday night, March 11, Bannister disappeared. Mr. Macomber went with State's Attorney Cook to Cincinnati where Bannister was apprehended.

White River Gets State Fair.

White River Junction gets the state fair. So the state commission voted at a meeting at Burlington, Saturday. The fight was between Burlington, Rutland and White River. On the second ballot two of the Rutland votes went to the latter place and decided the choice White River Junction increased its offer of $10,000 and grounds to $15,000 and grounds and also offered to build an inner half mile track for horse racing, leaving the outside track for autombile events. This decision means that the state fair each year will be held in that village. This year's fair will be held Oct.

Chief Yoeman A. D. Turner of the navy recruiting office, Boston, has opened a branch office in Rutland which he says is the first office for recruiting for the navy ever opened in Vermont. Youman Turner is in Rutland principally to instruct about 20 candidates for the navy who have made application within the last few weeks.

The unusual sight of an aged brother and sister contesting against each other for their rights has been witnessed in Washington county court in the case of Betsy Slocum of Morrisville against Harvey Hersey, ex-mayor and a retired preacher of Barre. The plaintiff and defendant are brother and sister and the suit is brought to recover $1,397.18 and interest since 1903 on a note which it is alleged the defendant gave the plaintiff. The defense is that the note has been paid in full and that endorsements thereon have been erased. Both Mrs. Slocum and Mr. Hersey are over 80 years old. A verdict of $1388 and costs was awarded the plaintiff.

A. K. Ritchie has been elected president of the Bennington County National Bank to succeed the late John S. Holden. I. Holden, son of the late president, has been elected vice-president. A. J.
